A lit candle in a decorative holder. The candle is lit, with a small flame at the top. The holder is ornate and appears to be made of wood or stone, with intricate carvings. The background is a soft, out-of-focus green and brown, suggesting an indoor setting with plants or a rustic theme.

STORE NEWS

A Note from Paysage

We are FALLing in love at Paysage!

There are many reasons why fall is our favorite season...

But the biggest reason is because of the gorgeous seasonal home decor that we have in store!

This September we are highlighting our new online shopping website, new decor pieces, and especially the season change!

DESIGN & DÉCOR

A Fall Ready Room

provided by The Scout Guide

*Autumn is a second spring when every leaf is a flower.
- Albert Camus*

Here are a few of our favorite ways to address the shorter days and lower temperatures in our fall and winter decor:

1. Pile on the velvet pillows. Is there a fabric more perfect for winter than velvet? We think not. Now is the time to accessorize with plenty of velvet pillows—preferably in warm, rich colors.
2. Create a slightly moodier coffee table display. Come fall, we like to rotate our coffee table books to give those with darker cover colors pride of placement, which adds a fall-appropriate, sophisticated vibe to a space. (Check out our Paysage fall favorites!)
3. Compensate with candles. Incorporating additional candles into decor doesn't just make up for lost light as the daylight hours dwindle, it creates a wonderful sense of coziness. (For a safer and savvy alternative, pick up room spray and electric candles from Paysage!)
4. Layer on additional throws. This is a no-brainer, but just when we think we have enough blankets on hand, we like to add one more for good measure. (The 2017-2018 line of faux furs from Paysage will make the perfect throw and blanket!)

GIGI'S KITCHEN

Tarte Amandine... A sweet way to welcome Fall

INGREDIENTS:

- 1 roll pie crust
- 1 tablespoon all purpose flour
- 1 stick unsalted butter
- 1/2 cup granulated sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 cup finely ground blanched almonds
- 3 tablespoons dark rum
- 1 teaspoon almond extract
- 3 pears poached in white wine

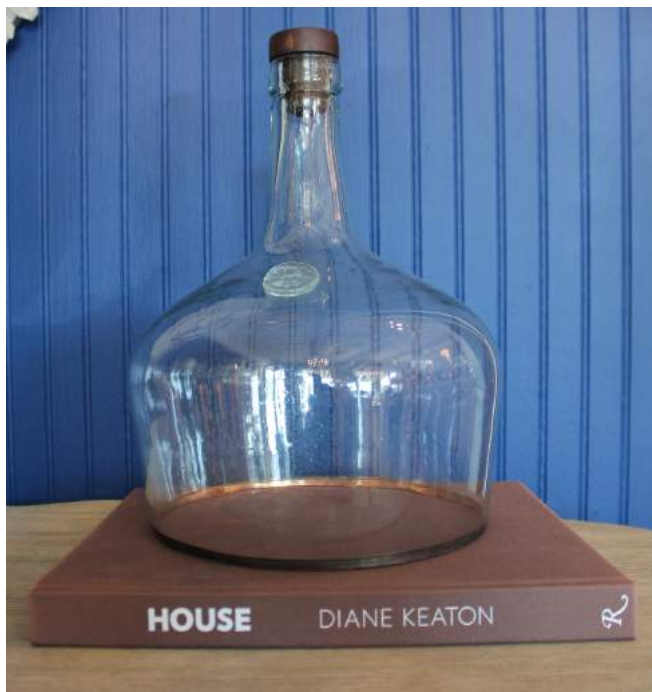

INSTRUCTIONS:

1. Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Roll out dough into a 12-inch round on a lightly floured surface. Fit into a 10-inch tart pan with a removable bottom and fold over to make a double-thick edge. Roll rolling pin over edge of tart pan to trim dough, and pierce bottom of dough all over with a fork. Freeze until firm, about 15 minutes.
2. Cream butter and sugar into the bowl of an electric mixer until light and fluffy. Add egg, ground almonds, rum, almond extract, and flour; beat until smooth. Spread the thick mixture evenly in chilled tart shell and refrigerate while preparing pears.
3. Remove cooled poached pears from poaching liquid and cut in half lengthwise, removing the core and stem. Reserve poaching liquid. Place each half, cut crosswise into thin slices. Arrange sliced pear halves on frangipane filling around edge of tart, leaving space between each half, and place one half in center of tart.
When arranging pears, try to "pull" slices toward center of tart, which will elongate pears bit and fill the shell better than if the pears were just placed flat. Bake for 10 minutes, reduce oven temperature to 400 degrees, and bake until tart shell is golden brown and frangipane has puffed and browned, 25 - 35 minutes more.
4. While tart is baking, bring reserved poaching liquid to a boil and reduce by half. Brush this glaze lightly over pears immediately after removing tart from oven. Serve at room temperature.

Enjoy!
